NUMB. 26.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, JULY 20, to Saturday, JULY 27. 1734

Paris, February 22.

THE Affairs of King Staniſlaus, however they may ſtand in Poland, go well in Rome. The Count Zalosky, that King's Miniſter, has had a very long Audience of Cardinal Firau, Secretary of State, on that Subject. His Eminence gives the Court Hopes, that, as ſoon as a proper Occaſion offers, the Holy See will take up Arms in that Prince's Favour: Not raiſing of Troops or fitting out Squadrons; nor by uſing any ſort of Ammunition but the Powder and Shot of the Vatican, which have been found of ſo great Proof, that Countries have been made deſolate, Armies diſarmed, and Princes dethroned by it. It is true the Bulls that do all this Execution, have loſt a little of their Force ſince the Reformation; but if the Elector of Saxony is a good Catholick as he pretends to be, he will ſit ſtill, and ſuffer the Pope's canonical Thunder to do him all poſſible Miſchief, and thank his Holineſs afterwards for his Fatherly Correction. They have received at Rome an Expreſs from Ferrara, with Advice that a Body of 4000 Men of French Troops, have ſeized Moſola, and other Towns on the Po, dependent on the Eccleſiaſtical State, tho' without any Prejudice to the Holy See, becauſe it is to hinder the Debarkation of the Imperialiſts that may come from Trieſte; and alſo with a charitable Deſign of ſtarving the Garriſon of Mantua, which is now very numerous. They really acquaint us that there is not a good Harmony between the Allies: France promiſed by a Treaty with the King of Sardinia, to render him Poſſeſſor of the State of Milan; and the Queen of Spain, who is a Lady of great Qualities, ſeems to think this is ſo much loſt to her Son Don Carlos; and that tho' the Spaniards had not fired a Shot towards the Conqueſt of it, yet his Catholick Majeſty's Declaration of War, ſhe pretends, is a ſufficient Title whereupon to found the Pretenſions to that Dutchy.

'Tis even now reported, that General Mercy is arrived on the Frontiers of Mantua, at the Head of 40,000 Men: So that if the Spaniards purſue their Deſign of paſſing into Naples, and ſeparating entirely from the other two Allies, we are like to have a fine Piece of Work of it at laſt. Yeſterday a Perſon of great Quality, at the Cardinal's Levee, ſaid very well, upon taking this Expedition to Italy without due Concert with the Spaniards, That the French ſeemed to do every Thing without thinking, and the Spaniards thought of every thing, and did nothing.

They tell us from Rome, that Reports reach them every Day of one arbitrary Act or another done by the Viceroy of Naples, which the Neceſſity of Affairs, not his own Inclinations, drive him upon. Many Perſons of Diſtinction are put into Priſon there, others ruined, and the People in general oppreſſed. The Prince of Miſeto the other Day was arreſted by Order of the Court of Vienna, and conducted Priſoner to the Caſtle of St. Elme, where ſome ſudden Accident depriv'd him of his Life; ſome ſay he was beheaded. The Spaniards, true or falſe, give out that they have gained ſeveral of the principal Lords of the Kingdom, which ſeem to authoriſe theſe Severities. And theſe are good Reaſons for their ſpeedy March to the Confines of the Diſpoſitions of their Neapolitan Friends. But on the other Hand they talk differently: For altho' there are ſeveral Mal-contents, as there are in all Governments, who propoſe to make an Advantage by fiſhing in troubled Waters; yet the Neapolitans in general, knowing the Miſeries which the People of Lombardy endure, are encouraged to act in concert with the Imperial Troops, for the Defence of the Country againſt all Enemies whatſoever. That they have made a Review of the Militia, and find that there are about 100,000 Men ready to take Arms at the firſt Order of the Viceroy.

The Republick of Venice, whoſe Government like Argus, being formed with an hundred Eyes to watch over the Commonwealth with extreme Vigilance. They pretend to ſee that the Allies will at length erect a powerful Kingdom in Italy, in favour of Don Carlos, at leaſt if they are let alone; and therefore it behoves every Body, they ſay, to take care of their own Land Marks, that they do not hedge in a few Towns, Cities and Countries, to which they have no Pretenſions. People in a hurry are apt to make Miſtakes; and therefore the Venetian State are repairing their Fortifications, ſupplying their Magazines, and diſciplining their Troops with more than ordinary Application.

Warſaw, Feb. 6. There has been a very ſharp Action between the Ruſſians and Polanders near Wilda. The Polanders have taken M. Tyſenhauſen, Staroſt of Inſtrucki, hacked him in pieces, and hanged one of his Domeſticks.

Hamburgh, Feb. 10. 'Tis written from Hanover, that a Courier was arrived there from the Court of Great Britain, with Orders to keep 8000 Men in readineſs to march to the Rhine by the Middle of next Month.

Dantzick, Feb 10. Five Hundred Men work Night and Day to fortify two paſſes which ſerve the Town as a Barrier. In the Avenues are planted 100 pieces of Iron Cannon, lately arrived on board a foreign Ship.

Warſaw, Feb. 12. The Ruſſian Troops have taken the important Forreſs of Bialacerkiow which is the Key of Poliſh Ukrania. We have received from Lithuania a Confirmation of the Action between the Ruſſians and Poles, which latter not being ſupported by the Troops of M. Pociey, were entirely defeated.

Dantzick, Feb. 16. The Ruſſian General Leſſie is arrived at Preſt, a Village ſituate about a League from this Place; and ſeveral Coſſacks have already appear'd under the Cannon of this City. At the Approach of the Ruſſians, the Sluices on the Side of the Fields have been open'd, which puts the Places in a State of Security on that Side: but 'tis however much fear'd that they will make themſelves Maſters of the Fort of Wechſelmund, which would not fail of cutting off the Communication between the Sea and this Town, to the great Prejudice of the Inhabitants; but as that Fortreſs is well provided with Artillery and all Sorts of Ammunition, we flatter ourſelves, that it may hold out till the Arrival of the expected Succours as 'tis given out from more than one Place; and we are the more induced to give Credit to it, ſince 'tis judg'd that the King and ſo many Lords would not expoſe themſelves to ſtay in a Town ſurrounded with Enemies, without certain Hopes of Relief.

Leg-

Legorn, Jan. 30. We are assured that the Infant Don Carlos has desired of their Catholick Majesties, to be Married to the Princess of Bearjolois, Sister to the Duke of Orleans, in her 19th Year.

Petersburgh, Feb. 10. They are preparing at Riga a Train of heavy Artillery and much Ammunition to send to General Lasci, to enable him to put in Execution his Designs against the City of Dantzick, since the Magistrates persist in their Obstinacy, and will not agree to the Propositions made by the said General, but on the contrary fortify themselves, as well in the City as the Forts on the Country Side, to repulse the Troops of the Allies, if they can, by Force. The Governor of Revel has also Orders to send three armed Fregates towards the Vistula. The Governor of Riga having sent Advice to the Czarina, that Count Pociey, with a Body of 5000 Horse, had again made an Inroad into the Dutchy of Courland, and carried off a great many Cattle, and committed other Ravages, Orders are sent to the Governor of Smolensko to detach 6000 Cossacks towards the said Dutchy, who came lately to the Neighbourhood of that City; and another Order is sent to the Governor of Riga, to send thither a Regiment of Infantry of three Battalions which is at Nerva. The Court expects with Impatience fresh Advices from Constantinople and Derbent, touching the War between the Turks and Persians, by reason that the Bashaw of Bender had received Orders to march with all Diligence 6000 Men of his Troops towards Constantinople, and that a Report was current that the Grand Seignior and Prime Vizier will take the Field.

London, Feb. 2. On Tuesday Night, the 22d Instant, Mrs. Wall, a Widow, and Mrs. Shenton, Daughter, were barbarously murdered at Coventry, by one Waldey, who kept an Alehoute there, and was Nephew to Mrs. Wall: It is said he had asked his Aunt to lend him some Money, which she refused. On Tuesday Night he went to Mr. Shenton's, the Husband of Mrs Shenton, and finding that he was out of Town, he went about Twelve at Night to his Aunt's and knock'd at the Door, Mrs. Wall opening it, he beat the Candle out of her Hand, threw her down on the Ground, cut her Throat from Ear to Ear, and then went up Stairs to rifle her Room, where he found Mrs. Shenton (who was come to lie with her Mother that Night) in Bed, who being very deaf had not hear'd the Scuffle below, but perceiving his Hands bloody, said, Lord have mercy upon me, what do you do here in that condition? He told her he had been killing her Mother, and would dispatch her, and thereupon cut her Head almost off. The next Day he went out of Town to pay some Money, and coming Home about Eleven at Night was taken on Suspicion, his Wife having said she wish'd he was not concern'd in the Murder. He is now in Goal very penitent, has confess'd every Circumstance, and says he did it all in a Quarter of an Hour.

The Encouragement given to Seamen by his Majesty's Proclamation, has met with such Success, that it was thought there will be no occasion for any Impress, except a greater Number of Ships should be ordered for Service.

Feb. 23. It having been reported, for some Time past, that a Motion will be made this Session in the House of Commons for restoring Triennial Parliaments, We hear that several Corporations have already sent up Instructions to their Representatives, humbly requesting them to promote the passing such an Act, with their Votes and Interest; and it cannot be doubted that so honest an example will be soon followed by all the independent Cities and Boroughs in England.

Last Week they began to impress Seamen at Plymouth, to man such Ships of War as are fitted out there. The America, Capt. Connolly, from Jamaica for London, which put into Plymouth in Distress, being refitted, had all her Men impress'd.

Orders have been given to impress no Watermen on the River Thames.

Dublin, Feb. 16. On Tuesday a fine Gelding, belonging to the Rt. Hon the Lord Viscount M---y, seeing, a person coming in his Paddock, who had castrated him a few days before, ran to him with the utmost Fury, broke his Arms to pieces with his Teeth, threw him over, and even lay down on him to crush his Life out; nor could he be parted from him but with such pains as made his Keepers despair of saving him; so that he was order'd to be shot, which was done accordingly.

Extract of a private Letter from London, dated Feb. 23. 1734.

WE are still in a State of Uncertainty as to Peace or War, tho' the latter seems most likely to take Place, our Naval Armament going on, about 80 Line of Battle Ships being commissioned. A little time will show if the Emperor is able to put a Stop to the Success of his Enemies in Italy; if it proves he is not, then it's apprehended the Dutch and we shall assist him, to prevent Sicily and Naples falling into the Spaniards Hands. It is very uncertain what Part Sweden will take in the Affairs of Poland; if they join the French Party, the Baltick Sea will be much disturbed the ensuing Summer; and if they do not, Stanislaus has no Chance of reigning King. You'l observe how great a Part of Europe is engaged in War, and may easily perceive it is a difficult Matter for us to sit still, however prudent it may appear; but it is certain we shall take no Steps but in Conjunction with Holland.

We hear Admiral Cavendish is to command a Squadron in the West-Indies, and that by the Promotion of Sir John Jennings to be a Peer, and Admiral Norris superannuated, the Vacancy in the Flags will be filled by the Lord Forbes and Capt. Nicolas Haddock.

London, March 26. According to Accounts by a Holland Mail this Day, the Russians have taken Fort Weyselmond at Dantzick, cut off all their Comunication by Sea, destroy'd their Corn-Mills, and were endeavouring to set the City on Fire; so that all was in great Confusion. The Magistrates began to see with other Eyes, were greatly divided, and an Insurrection of the Populace (who began to cry out for the Author of inviting King Stanislaus thither to be named) was expected.

We hear that all the Officers of the Regiments in Ireland are ordered immediately to their Posts, and that some of these Regiments will be ordered on board the Fleet, to serve as Marines.

CHARLESTOWN July 27.

On Thursday the 18th Inst. Mr. Robert Pringle Merchant in Charlestown, was married to Miss Jane Allen, a beautiful young Lady, Daughter of Mr. Andrew Allen, an eminent Merchant in this Town.

A Hue and Cry, after an Irish Dear Joy.

Cito Ignominia fit, superbi gloria
Mendax Calumnia vitam corrumpit.

AN Irish Mungrel, lately Run away,
When R---- ge thought to shew him English play,
But Teague, it seems, did not think fit to stay.
Awake my Muse, in lively Colours paint
A D---l incarnate though he's call'd a Saint,
A batter'd Beau, puff'd up with haughty pride,
Full of himself, scorns all the World beside,
A hare-brain'd Fop, impertinent and odd,
Whose heaven's his belly, and whose back's his God,
A Great conceited Fop, without pretence
To the least grain of Learning, Wit or Sense
Or any thing but Irish Impudence;
A Wretch brimfull of lying, noise, and sound,
Whose silly pride, and folly, knows no bound.
For fools are always most profuse of words,
And Cowards never fail of longest swords.
As good a Saint as Usurer e'er made,

And

And has a Conſcience ſuited to his trade;
Yet Mammon has not ſo engroſs'd him quite,
But Belial lays as large a Claim of ſpite.
Stiff in opinion, ever in the wrong,
Inconſtant, roveing, and loves nothing long
No Billings-gate has ſuch a ſlandring tongue,
Ill natur'd, peeviſh, croſs, and in a word,
The wretched ſot's all honey or all T--d.
No learn'd Philoſopher e'er need to know
Whether his ſoul's Ex traduce or no;
He has no ſoul —— nor never had, I'll ſwear,
No ſoul of Senſe his ſtupid Corps would wear.
The Midwife laid her hand on his thick ſcull
With this prophetick bleſſing, Be thou dull
Blaſpheme, ſwear, curſe, and roar till thy Lungs ake;
For a man of ſenſe I'm ſure thou'lt never make.
One Thing (Remarkable) you'l plainly ſee
In this Dull Standard of Stupidity,
Arriv'd to ſuch a pitch of ſawcy pride
On Rich and poor he turns his great Back ſide,
Though on that part he's been as often kick'd
As ever Negro was by B——n whip'd.
His ſhoulders too, you know are cudgel proof;
But now I think on't, I have ſaid enough.

But hear me propheſy, and mark me well:
E'er thrice the Role renews its fragrant Smell
He ſhall be ſent into the bogg, (once more)
Forlorn, forſaken, penny-leſs, and poor,
As a pawnd Cully, or a mortgag'd whore.
And may who pitty's him, deſerve his fate
Deſerve both heav'n, and mankind's, ſcorn and hate.
